

 OFFICIAL SEAL OF SUCK

OOH! Well, sticking to our promises, we're moving right along with issue #3. Not so much news on Sick Nipple, as there is on DAY ON THE GREEN!!!! Having just completed their first rehearsal, a SECRET SONG LIST was stolen by this reporter and is being given to you CONFIDENTIALLY!! No one in the band knows it. But, rumor has it Underwear, F.U.B.A.R., Stapler, and some other favs will be displayed but watch (or listen, rather) for drastic improvements, adjustments and subtleties from what you know now from Convenient Conspiracy and Inspected by 7. So the question on everyone's minds is on fire in a dark chasm of bacon.

Sorry, this is shamefully pointless, please skip to the next page.

Letters To The Editmoron

Yay! OK, we finally got some letters from actual subscribers. Please send more so we can publicly ridicule everyone.

To Editor of Nispy News-letter'n't:

Yea! What the hell is that on the side of your binder?

Hey all you Nispy freaks,

Pole here! I've decided to write because I have some compliments and some complaints. You all's music is great (especially with Ryan), and my favorite song is "Just Don't Eat Bacon." I really like "Vestigial Sister," but you need an ending, not that yelling at the end. I also think you should go to a studio and put your sh*t on a really good tape. By the way, what are you playing at "Day on the Green?" Please consider this sh*t and let me know.

Forever estranged,

We are sorry, your letter can not be completed as dialed. Please check your letter and dial again, or call your operator to help you. This is a recording. (P.S. See the beginning of this News-Letter for Day on the Green info. You'll be exalted to know we should be using real drums for the rest of our songs. Our good friend Matt has volunteered for "Sick Nipple" and afterwards Ryan has signed on as our full time all-purpose multi-directional drummer who makes thousands of Julien fries. Also, we regret we were unable to consider your sh*t. Please visit your proctologist for this information.-ed)

Announcing:

The Nispy Trimensiquentinennial Song Lyrics Contest!!

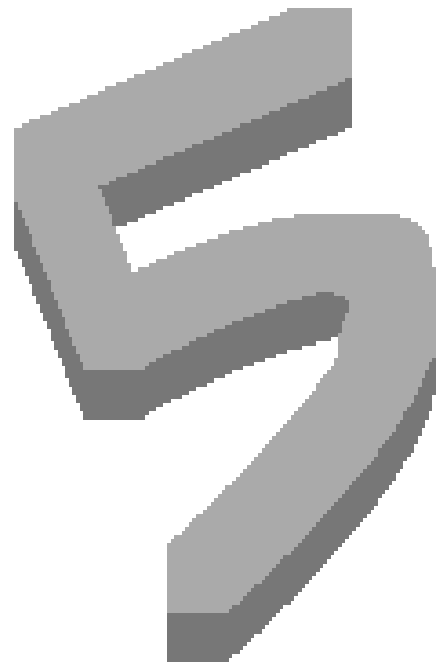

No we're not desperate for ideas! We're up to our thyroids in song ideas. We just want to know how demented you all are. If it's good, we might print it. If it's sucks, we might play it. If it really sucks, go to hell. Send most entries to:

Hang on, I wanna see how much I can stretch words.

Wow. This is really stretched out huh?
~~Wow. This is really stretched out huh?~~
~~Wow. This is really stretched out huh?~~

SORRY, WE NOW RETURN TO OUR REGULARLY SCHEDULED STOOL.

Today brings another issue of this great news-letter.
How Rick does it, I don't know!
I am not surprised that some call him "Amazing."
So, hats off to you, Rick for this quality piece of literature.

Now that the praising of Rick and his news-letter is over,
Everyone probably thinks this column sucks.
Well I don't give a gosh darn hoot.
So you can just go away and not read it.
Let me apologize for that last sentence.
Evil took over me for a brief time. I couldn't control myself.
This is a poor example of the usual quality of this column.
Tell Rick your thoughts about it in "Letters to the Editmoron."
Envoy of my column will not get you anywhere, Mr. Smarty,
Relevant or not.

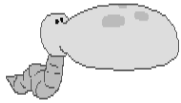

So what did you think of my column?
Understand that this is all a horrid trick.
Considering that Rick had a brief ego boost.
Kansas is a nice place to live.
So make sure to read this column twice, hell, even read it vertically

And now our feature presentation....

The Story of all of us.

We'll be rehearsing a lot in these coming up weeks for Day on the Green. But we also have to start recording Sick Nipple. Boy are we busy. Busy we be. Busy be we. Busy be a wee little bee on who we'll pee to make him flee like a flea in a tree, see? DIE!!! Just DIE! Can't you all leave me alone!!!!?????!!?? STOP IT!! I'll Kick your ever loving a-

We apologize, but Rick has gone criminally insane. Why did you do this to him? WHY???? Why did you hunt him down and BETRAY him??? You were supposed to be his friends! Now look at him! DAMN YOU!!! DAAAAAMN YOUUUUU!!!!!!-

We apologize again as it seems our apologizer, too, has gone insane. Since you're probably bored of this routine, and since we ran out of fancy fonts, we now return to our regularly scheduled column. Ehen.
THE ENDn't

Well, there's not much to say and I have to eat, so happy entrails until we secrete again, good-bye and Allowishes to Ali Boboi and Crazy Ahab's magical pen.

Etc., and so on,
Mine falsely,
Go to hell.

PLEASE STOP THE FIGHTING!!!!

The World According To Moocher
By Moocher

Hello, and welcome to the World According to Moocher. My name is Moocher, and this is my world (See "My World", track 14 on "Use Your Illusion 2"). Anyway, so why did the monkey fall out of the tree? Keep the fish outta my pie! Is this thing on? (Tap, tap) Hello! (Tap, tap) Hello!

Okay, on a serious note, I'm sure Rick has been talking a lot about "Day on the Green." Well, I hope it happens, damn it! But I don't think it is going to be at the current date that it is set at (March 11, less than 3 weeks!!!) Of course, my huge ego will be there with my three bands. Oh! That reminds me... I AM NOT LEAVING NISPY!!!! Quit asking me! Nispy, quite honestly, is my first, and favorite band. Things are going just fine with the band. Expect Ryan to be a more permanent part of the band after we finish "Sick Nipple" (featuring Matt on drums).

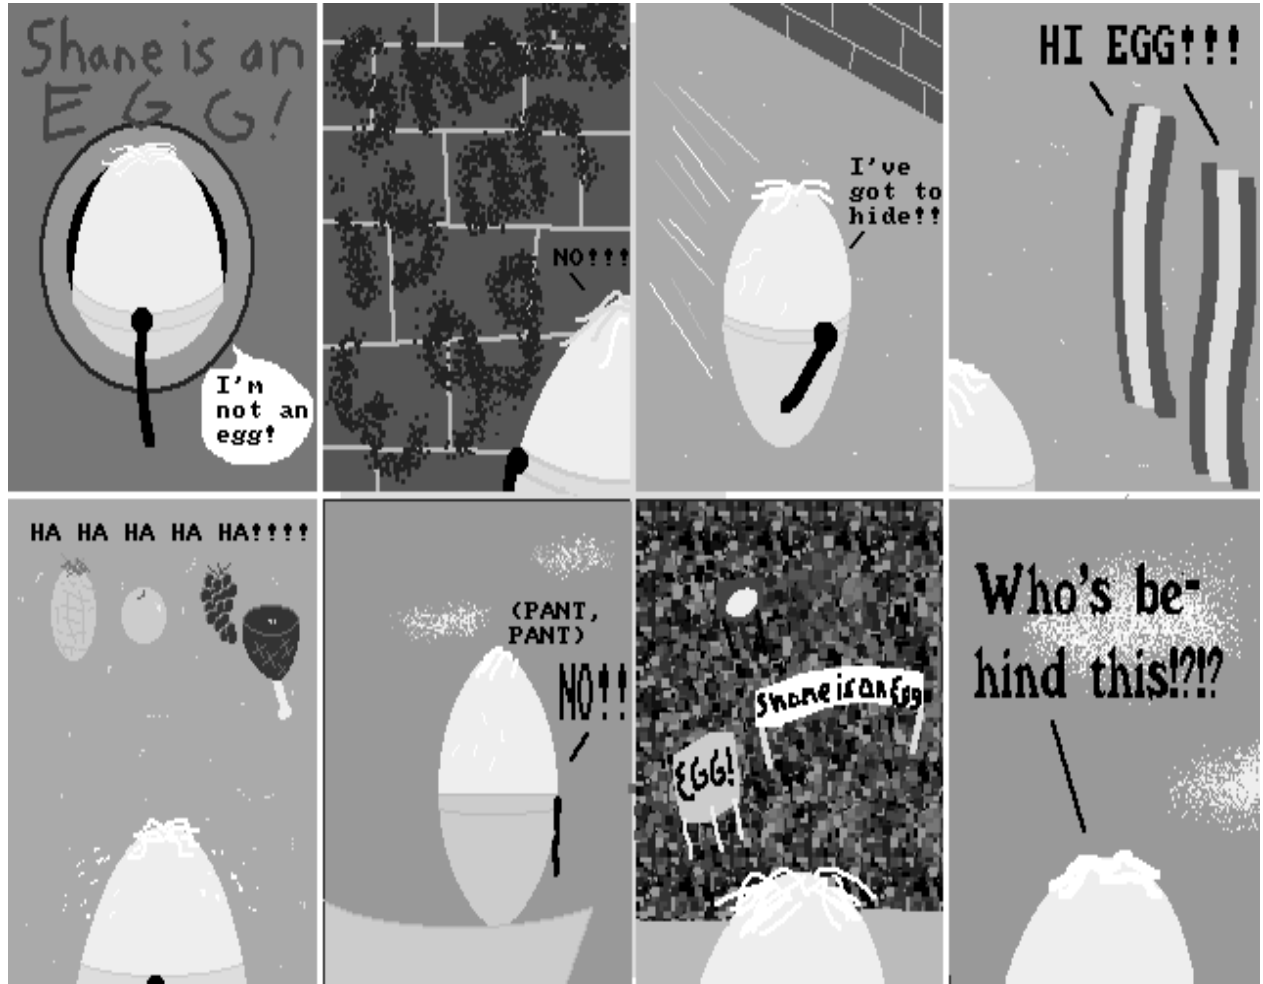

By the way, I've got a joke. One day a guy named Thehell Outame was born. When he was 4, he was seen running up and down the front porch of his house. By the time he was 7, he could run around the block five times a day. When he was 15, he won all the races at his school. As he grew older, he continued to gain speed and endurance. Anyway, when he was 50, he was running his fifty miles a day when a policeman saw him and, thinking he was a robber, started clubbing him to death. Right before he died, all the neighbors turned to one another and said in horror "Why is he doing that to that poor man?" And then the other neighbors turned and replied "I don't know why, he beats Thehell Outame!!"

Now, here's a new part in my column where I will review an old Metal CD. Today, it is Iron Maiden's "Somewhere In Time." "Time" is a 51 minute CD that Maiden released in 1986. It is damn good. Harmony work is exceptional in "Caught Somewhere In Time," and "Wasted Years," my two favorite songs off this 8 track CD. I give it a B... Up next week, I'll be reviewing a CD by a Canadian Progressive Rock Trio (geez, who is it?).

Share The Egg Comics proudly presents.....

That's it for this issue.... Send us personal advice etc. to letters to the editor, uh... bye.

Go away.

Not at all important!

Well, guess what!!!

We have a new unbeknownst to Nispy subscriber thanx to Vic "Doc Hellfire" Ruiz! His Name's Aaron, his nickname is unpronounceable, he likes Led Zeppelin more than Nispy (GASP!) We'll not give you his measurements for privacy's sake, and he denies the existence of Nispy's guitar player. Well, in addition to all that and watching celebrity autopsies as a favorite pastime, we believe he is a complete loser candidate. If you know anyone (besides us) who would make a good complete loser, have them send several million dollars, or 2, to.....
